What is a Checklist?

A checklist is a simple method of keeping track of what coins are in your collection. You can take this checklist with you when you visit coin shows or your favorite coin shop. When kept up to date, you will know exactly what coins you have and what coins you need. A checklist is designed to be simple to use and comprehensive in scope. It is not meant to be an all-inclusive database of your collection that will keep track of such information as the grade of your coin, the date of purchase, the purchase price, etc.

What Does This Checklist Include?

This checklist includes coins made by the United States Mint that are available from your local bank or at a reasonable price from coin shops everywhere. This checklist does not include expensive series where a majority of the coins are priced over $100 (i.e. Morgan Dollars, gold coins, bullion coins, etc.).

In certain instances, where it can be reasonably predicted that a coin series will continue over the next few years, future dates have been provided. In other instances where it is not certain what will be produced over the next few years, for example commemorative coinage, there are blank entries for you to write in the coins that you purchase. The checklist is organized by major divisions such as "Early Dimes (1796 – 1837)", "Classic Quarters (1892 – 1930)" or "Modern Dollars (1971 – Date)." Within each major division, every U.S. coin type is covered and subdivided by design variety where appropriate. For example, "Liberty Seated Quarters; Variety 1a: No Drapery; No Rays Rev; No Motto Over Eagle." Finally, every date and mint mark combination with significant die varieties is listed. This is not an all-inclusive list of errors and die varieties, but the most frequently collected ones are listed.

How to Use This Checklist?

Every time you acquire a coin you cross it off the checklist. A single line through the date is sufficient so that you can read the information that is below it. A pencil is the preferred writing instrument when updating your checklist because it allows you to easily erase the line that you drew if you make a mistake or sell that coin.

Key Date coins (coins that are priced over $100 in any grade) are indicated in red.

* Special Mint Sets (SMS) are high-quality coins (not proof coins) that were issued during 1965-67. These have only 5 coins because the U.S. Mint did not use mint marks during those years.

^ "Souvenir Sets" were issued by the US Mint in 1983 and 1983 and were only available for sale to visitors of the mint during those years.

Note: The U.S. Mint did not produce Uncirculated Mint Sets in 1950, 1982 and 1983. However, some private companies did assemble uncirculated sets to sell to collectors.
